

Neurodiversity in the Workplace: Patterns and Visual Comfort

Friday 5th July and Friday 12th July
Buro Happold, 71 Newman Street, London W1T 1PD
Happold Suites, ground floor

We need your help:

We are looking for volunteers to help with a research study to understand the effect of patterned finishes in office spaces. The research will contribute data towards better understanding of how office environments affect us.

What's involved?

We would like you to bring your own laptop or reading materials and come and work on the ground floor for a period of 1 hour (+15mins for breaks). There are 4 study spaces, you will be asked to work in each of them for 15 minutes and complete a short questionnaire at the end of each session. That's it!

When is it?

The study spaces will be available on the Friday 5th July, Friday 12th and Friday 19th July, from 10-5pm.

The timeslots run every 20 minutes past the hour.

10:00 10:20 10:40
11:00 11:20 11:40
12:00 12:20 12:40
13:00 13:20 13:40
14:00 14:20 13:40
15:00 15:20 15:40
16:00 16:20 16:40

Please email jason.slocombe.17@ucl.ac.uk to arrange a preferred time slot

Where is it?

The study will be carried out in Happold Suites, ground floor Burro Happold, 71 Newman Street, London W1T 1PD. (not 17 Newman Street)

More information

Please see attached participant information sheets

Thank you!

